

IMPROVED CRUTCH APPARATUS AND METHOD

Abstract

An improved crutch device generally includes a gel shock, a fixed tube assembly, and a sliding tube assembly. The present invention is configured to facilitate dampening the impact and preventing or mitigating injuries at least partially caused by the use of a device, wherein the device (e.g., crutch) provides support or assists movement, such as, for example, canes, crutches and forearm crutches.